

FIVE YEARS IN, CCBM LOOKING TO EXPAND RESEARCH AND STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

From graduate student Jose Zamora's perspective, the CREST Center for Cellular and Biomolecular Machines (CCBM) has been a spectacular success.

"There is so much value to being part of the CCBM," said Zamora, who began as an undergrad Scholar when the center opened and is now a graduate Fellow. He double majored in biology and physics and said that because of the CCBM, he has been able to explore both of his interests and learn about many other subjects. "I was hooked by the research. Joining the lab changed my life."

Now Zamora is a cardiovascular tissue engineer in Professor Kara McCloskey's lab and is considering a career in industry, but on the research end.

"EXPLORE UC MERCED" PROVIDES VIRTUAL GATEWAY

The latest edition of "Explore UC Merced" provides a dynamic gateway to prospective students and partners — sharing an in-depth view on the schools, research centers and what to do in and around campus.

ON THE ROAD TO RETURN, CAMPUS LAUNCHES FIRST DRIVE-THRU TOUR

This spring, the campus launched its first drive-thru tour to accommodate health and safety precautions. Each tour stop features a video led by a student tour guide, providing an in-depth view of the facilities. Visitors can explore the tour at drivethru.ucmerced.edu from the comfort of their cars while driving the path on campus or can take the tour virtually from their couches at home.

MAY 2021

UC Merced, which just celebrated the 15th anniversary of its opening in 2005, is already recognized as one of the top universities for both its academic quality and its ability to transform the lives of its graduates. The university is highly ranked by several prestigious publications such as US News & World Report, Washington Monthly, The Princeton Review, Money and others. It is increasingly being recognized for its outstanding academic programs and for its commitment to environmental sustainability.
